Here we see a belligerent jew threatening to sue an American Worker for not providing food to the jew fast enough. The Worker asks the jew to leave the store. The jew refuses to leave and starts asking random customers to defend him. Nobody does. A Black Officer then enters the store and orders the jew to leave. The jew still refuses. He disobeys the officer, call himself "the victim," and insists that the Worker must feed him after threatening to sue. The Black Officer then places the jew in handcuffs and physically removes him. Everyone is relieved once the jew is gone.

That's like the history of humanity in one post. "And then, everything was good and everyone was relieved".

To be honest by his appearance he could be either of European, Russian or even Arab descent but his complaining narrowed it down real quick.

Many such cases

In fact, a similar incident to this is how I became aware of the JQ. Pattern recognition is not antisemitic, racist or anything other than natural.

For so long white people defended them and NGOs and philanthropists and leftists who were from the same group as him pushed antiwhite in media and academia, workplace and immigration and because I'm white I feel bad for them. Maybe now they can see how all that was wrong now

He didn't wait an hour for a chicken, nobody would, this is shakedown, why does he keep telling everyone the clerk is Palestinian? How would he even know? And vice versa.
