

Basil the Great  @BasilTheGreat

3h

 BREAKING: SPECIALIST DOCTOR SAYS HENRY NOWAK COULD HAVE LIVED IF NOT FOR POLICE

In summary:

- Henry was alive when they arrived and likely clotted
- Aggressive police intervention likely tore clot
- Major Trauma department was minutes away from scene
- Judge and Pathologist were FAR TOO LENIENT on Police
- Henry Nowak had 50% CHANCE to survive
- Absolutely convinced that if he arrived in hospital alive he would have survived

This is disgusting, the family deserve justice

Full breakdown below:

Dr Krzysztof Magier [@DrMagier] based in the Isle of Wight is a qualified Paediatric Care Lead and part of the 'Critical Care Network' with experience in combat medicine training and a specialized course in treating severe injuries (including gunshot and stab wounds) has analysed the footage and claimed the AGGRESSIVE Police intervention may have contributed towards Henry's death.

Dr Magier DISAGREES with the pathologist's and judge's opinion that Henry Nowak had ZERO chance of SURVIVAL.

As well as the claim that handcuffing him essentially changed NOTHING.

In fact he claims the REVERSE IS TRUE, there is a high likelihood that the police intervention CONTRIBUTED TO HENRY'S DEATH.

He analysed the autopsy report, which points to DAMAGE to the subclavian vein as the main source of BLEEDING.

In a healthy person, venous bleeding occurs under low pressure and often self-limits thanks to the NATURALLY FORMING CLOT, while simply approximating the wound edges and compressing the surrounding tissues closes the vein enough to slow or even stop the bleeding.

The body camera footage shows that when police arrived on the scene (likely 5-10 minutes after the injury), Henry was CONCIOUS ENOUGH to speak LOUDLY.

He was therefore NOT YET in a terminal state.

After his arms were twisted behind his back and handcuffed, the vein was most likely STRETCHED, the clot TORN, and BLEEDING DRAMATICALLY INTENSIFIED.

Within just about three minutes, he lost consciousness and DIED.

People with suspected internal injuries should NEVER be moved or yanked abruptly, such actions can destroy the natural clot and lead to massive internal hemorrhage.

Instead of immediately calling a medical rescue team and handing the patient over to paramedics, the police ARRESTED HIM.

If paramedics had arrived first on the scene, Henry's chances of survival would have been MUCH HIGHER.

AS HIGH AS "50%"—writes Dr. Magier.

Paramedics could have quickly started an IV, administered fluids to increase circulating blood volume, and tranexamic acid to stabilize the clot, and if needed, performed needle decompression (inserting a large, long needle into the lung), because the issue wasn't so much lack of lung function, but compression of the blood-filled lung on the heart and mediastinum, which blocks circulation.

Worse still, the incident took place just a few minutes' drive by car (2–3 minutes by ambulance with sirens) from Southampton University Hospital—a regional MAJOR TRAUMA CENTRE equipped with a full team of specialists, procedures, and equipment.

"I AM CONVINCED THAT IF HENRY HAD ARRIVED THERE ALIVE THE DOCTORS WOULD HAVE NOT LET HIM DIE"— writes Dr. Magier.

The aggressive police intervention, instead of saving a life, led to death through improper handling of a severely injured person, even though world-class care was just minutes away. "I fear the Judge and pathologist were too lenient toward the police"

Jun 4, 2026 · 12:53 PM UTC

291 3,164 10,926 176,061

Basil the Great ✓ @BasilTheGreat

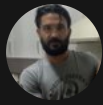

3h

@DrMagier is on X and has stood by his claims in public

This is huge news

12 82 524 9,429

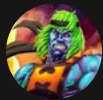

PedanticMF @MfPedantic

27m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

You say this came from a doctor, then a doctor would have know that a needle decompression would have done little for a haemothorax, it would have taken a chest drain. These little things bring doubt to your post.

1 288

WYLDMETAL @WYLDMETAL

42m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

This 100%. The people saying he would have died anyway are using a flawed argument in a disgusting way in an attempt to cover up police failure and or purposeful racially influenced neglect that resulted in death.

5 472

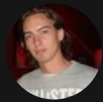

SuziB @SusanBourke7

1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

I think this was blatantly obvious. The family should have called an ambulance 60 mins earlier. They were complicit.

511

CTN @CTN175934

12m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

My first thought when I saw the footage was them pulling his arms behind his back like that is what killed him. I'm not a doctor, it was purely based on instinct.

44

Sharon Jones @sharon_jon60677

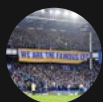

17m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

If Henry's family take the offer from Elon Musk he will fund all costs to take Hampshire police to court Evidence like this medical opinion will be provided by experts from both sides

I know it will not bring Henry back but justice will be done

5 179

Bramley moore @timetogobill

25m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Shut up you prick! your the kind of person who takes more delight in the police getting it wrong & highlighting there errors than being pissed off at the person who actually committed the murder...

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 1 📊 78

Connor Tobin @_ConnorTobin_ 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

If this is true then this amounts to a Gross Negligence Manslaughter case at the very least...

🗨️ 1 ↻ ❤️ 1 📊 442

x @IXDXDXDXDXDXI 2h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Moving him face first into the pavement makes it 10 times worse with stab wounds.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 1,355

Gamer @Brandonx334 51m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

The officers need to be prosecuted for manslaughter PERIOD.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 265

irishroadchild  @irishroadchild 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

A stab wound to the chest and the breathing complaint are highly suspicious for a pneumothorax which is very treatable on the street. Won't be detected in an autopsy unless looked for very carefully.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 1 📊 892

Alison GB   @HITFROMBEHIND21 34m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

This has sunk deeper into the mire of can't be arsedness and unprofessional ineptitude - life is no longer deemed a precious commodity by law enforcement. I feel thoroughly sickened and scared.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 20

soulMiner @soulMiner1 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Now watch Dr Krzysztof Magier get cancelled, de-banked and de-platformed.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 14

Daniel @Solasuke 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

This just gets worse and worse. What a dark terrible tragedy. How cruel.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 231

Bugabeepees @Bugabeepees 13m
Replying to @BasilTheGreat
Such a shame that @DrMagier couldn't have attended the scene and that we had to send the police who have very little medical training. Maybe they should run every medical scenario through Grock in future before they get hands on !

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 23

EggandChipsplease @Eggsie778 6m
Replying to @BasilTheGreat
I've always been a big supporter of the police and we would be fucked if they all downed tools. Only a moron would think otherwise. That said, the handling of this has been atrocious, I still don't understand the need to put cuffs on Henry and to not treat this claims seriously.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 7

Mrs J @cottageposy 2h
Replying to @BasilTheGreat @BROKENBRITAIN0
Wow well done him for speaking up-they will be trying to shut him up as we speak. God makes a terrible situation even worse-poor Henry, his family must be heart broken 💔

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 887

Nora H @Nora_H_93 5m
Replying to @BasilTheGreat
In the case of George Floyd, as the autopsy revealed, the police officer was prosecuted and sentenced to a long prison term for less than this. Can we hope that there will also be consequences for the police officers responsible for the death of a young man, even if he was white?

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 4

Jul MacFarlaine @JulMacfarlaine 56m
Replying to @BasilTheGreat
I think it was the big shiny blade only legal for a small percentage of society to blame....

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 448

PickledFairy 🏳️‍🌈 🇬🇧 @Pickled_Fairy 1h
Replying to @BasilTheGreat @MoriartyJones6
The police should be charged as accessories or at the least, with manslaughter.

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 12

Jack Jones @JackJ18424 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Nobody can truly know either way, but there should have been a duty of care to try.

Not to make the situation worse by moving him around and cuffing him when it was obvious he was no threat.

    35

Rookmeister @Rookmeister

44m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Blatant lie. Pathologist report said the precise opposite.

Nobody is saying anything other than the police fucked up. Stop making capital off the death of this lad.

You may as well parade his body in the streets.

You dont give a fuck what his family want.

   1  77

Blockchain Mastery @BTCMastery

2h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

So police killed him while in custody then. Clear case of perversion of justice.

    63

@Noodles @Noodles32359981

1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat @twillswitter

The issue is that Digwa will go for an unsafe conviction. Leave him on the murder charge. The police - do them for failing in their duties and go after the 'top cops'. They are culpable.

The officers will suffer for the rest of their lives. Too right. They lost their humanity.

    48

Reaver @agereaver

2h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Stripping away all of the obvious parts of this - this whole situation is an example that a different approach is needed if there's ANY suspicion of internal injuries whatsoever - if only they'd had sufficient medical awareness and didn't race to get him in cuffs

    185

Hannibal @Hannibal1628138

1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

An imported Muslim wounded Novak mortally, the police finished him off. Both are -racially motivated- Murderers. Dragging him around, and coldly responding to repeated "I can't breathe" is way worse than just criminal negligence. Police willingly accepted risk no breath = death

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 21

Darren Reynolds @DazRmech 19m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

The first and only time I watched that video, as soon as I see them pulling him from his fetal position, a position he put himself in to try to survive and then they dragged him out and pulled his arms back behind his back my instinct was don't that you could open up a wound

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 2 📊 32

Helen Barbara @HelenBarbaraSmi 2h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat @drumister

This is what I instinctively feel, he cries out in pain when his arm is dragged behind his back, isn't it awful, the inquest needs to be carried out asap not Sept 2027,

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 36

Kev Wilson @KevWilson7 2h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

Like does he mean you should use compression on a cut, not stretch it like what will have happened when the poor lad's hands were force behind his back?

Doesn't need a Dr to wonder about that one.

🗨️ 1 ↻ ❤️ 2 📊 824

Marcus Scott @MarcusS42005452 31m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

How interesting. It's almost like they just spun that story to soften the backlash...

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 4

Goober @Silly_bean111 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

We are seriously at a point where if you are in the vicinity of a crime or the victim you better hope the Police don't turn up because they just make it worse

🗨️ ↻ ❤️ 📊 93

Giovana ✓ @Itis4theanimals 1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat @JGlendyne22356

I think the police all need to be trained again. In such an important life saving job they are not equipped with the skills to deal with today's society. Also have higher standards of person being let in to policing. DEI for this kind of job is ridiculous.

Jack @ayjaypro

1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat @TheAryanTimes

It's a stitch up, we must demand a full forensic investigation. Maximum charges brought against the police officers involved and their superiors. Review of police training especially anti racism training and its implications.

38

Tea, Milk, No Sugar @TeaMilkNosugar1

38m

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

So the deputy police womble from Hampshire police was lying to make it look better for the police....

Hands up who is not surprised.

9

Peter Honest @peter_slater_UK

1h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat

THANK YOU BASIL

Perhaps YOU post it to the PM Office

98

Kelly Neville @KellyNeville18

2h

Replying to @BasilTheGreat @LairdOfThManor

If what this trauma doctor has said is true, my anger has just gone up to 13/10

20

Load more

