I was assigned to read and essay Malcolm X's autobiography in high school. I was thinking oh brother, no way. But I be doggone if I didn't agree with every damn thing he wrote. Rejection of handouts, lifting oneself up through education and hard work...

Black Americans have on average 0% asheknazi or Levantine dna and on average 20-25% English and Scots-Irish dna. They also have English surnames.

The tiny hats were NOT the majority of slave owners at all because we see no trace of their dna showing up in the Black population.

White people in response to whites owning slaves: the whole world did too

White people in response to Jews owning slaves: damn Jews.

The author concludes that Jews are not to blame as slavery was legal then, it helped Jews gain status, and that slavery had more impact on Jews than Jews had on slavery. He asserts that Jews who participated in the slave trade were simply merchants who dealt in goods of all kinds

People just need to go back in the archives & read everything they can. It's all documented in newspapers, journals, religious texts & other public records & it's been going on longer than many even realize.

This is a good place to start:

I've often wondered if the "white devils" natives spoke of were jews. Then younger generations were mislead to believe that term was reserved for anyone with lighter skin rather than who it was initially intended to describe.
