Texas State University has expelled a student who mocked Charlie Kirk's killing and spit at his supporters.

The incident happened Monday on the San Marcos campus at the Fighting Stallions statue. The event was a memorial organized by the campus chapter of Turning Point USA to honor Charlie Kirk after his death.

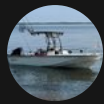

During the memorial, the student was filmed mocking the assassination by pretending to be shot and spitting at supporters, sparking widespread backlash.

We are DONE excusing bad behavior & turning the other cheek. Civil servants, Uniform personnel, Teacher, Professors need to be A-political. Civil servants & Uniform personnel you serve the NATION & the Commander in Chief. Teachers & Professors you are to teach the youth how to learn, how to research & come up with hypothesis grounded in FACTS.

Conform to America values or move elsewhere.

If ever Charlie had a divine purpose on earth, it would be for us to open our eyes to the difference between good and evil.
