Creator and former owner of 4chan, Chris Poole (known as moot), was in contact with Epstein.

He possibly opened the /pol/ board after meeting him.

Rightwing edgy culture was specifically made for the normalization of pedophilia and political de-stabilization. It's why, if you enter the account of an average groypner, you will see many pictures of drawn naked children.

I believe 4chan was created or heavily influenced by CIA/Mossad.

That's one of the main reasons I came to see "Q" or "QAnon" as a bogus operation. Essentially a psychological operation by the U.S. government to manipulate patriots, conspiracy theorists, and MAGA supporters. They believe that a secret "white hat" military operation has been taking down the deep state since 2016... which just seems laughable for ever

Trust the plan for the Q boomers

According to Republican party insiders, in 2016 Rick Gates, then-deputy chairman of the Trump campaign, reportedly sought Psy-Group's assistance in a scheme referred to as "Project Rome" from George Birnbaum.^[17] Shortly after, Psy-Group hired Covington & Burling, a Washington-based law firm, to conduct a legal review of "Project Rome".^[18] The project reportedly included multiple efforts aimed at assisting the Donald Trump campaign, ranging from opposition research to generation of fake online personas. Joel Zamel met Eric Trump later in 2016, but it is unclear if the Trump campaign ever secured Psy-Group's services.^[19] The Wall Street Journal published Psy-Group promotional material purportedly from the meeting.^[20] The interaction between the Trump campaign and Psy-Group became part of the investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 US presidential elections.^[21] Mueller also investigated money flows to Psy-group through Cyprus.^[22] The FBI investigation into contacts between Joel Zamel and Trump campaign contacts continued beyond the closure of Mueller's Special Counsel investigation.^[23]

The New York Times reported on May 19, 2018, that Donald Trump Jr. met with United Arab Emirates and Saudi intermediary George Nader, Blackwater founder Erik Prince, and Joel Zamel in Trump Tower on August 3, 2016. Nader reportedly told Trump Jr., that the crown princes of Saudi Arabia and the UAE were eager to help his father win the election, and Zamel pitched a social media manipulation campaign. Trump Jr. reportedly responded favorably and Nader subsequently had frequent meetings with Steve Bannon, Michael Flynn, and Jared Kushner.^[24] The Times reported that Prince arranged the August 2016 meeting; Prince stated in his November 30, 2017, testimony to the House Intelligence Committee that he had no formal communications or contact, nor any unofficial role, with the Trump campaign.^[25] After Trump was elected, Nader paid Zamel up to $2 million.^[26] Nader reportedly visited the White House 13 times in 2017 in order to meet Steve Bannon, Trump's chief strategist and campaign manager.^[27]

In February 2018, FBI agents assisting Mueller traveled to Israel to interview employees of Psy-Group, the company whose founder, Joel Zamel, pitched psychological operations to the Trump campaign in 2016. The Daily Beast reported that agents asked about Psy-Group's financial structure, its ownership, and its communications with Team Trump during the 2016 campaign.^[28] Mueller also subpoenaed records for payments made to PSY Group's bank account in Cyprus.^[29]

On September 25, Catalyst attorneys, Eitan Greenstein and David Moore met at the Court seeking an adjournment to the September 26 appeal.^[30] In her November 25, 2017 exclusive report in her first article, The Judge, the blog Black Cube and me, Elizabeth reported that "Black Cube had tried to entrap Newbold on behalf of Catalyst Capital Group Inc., a $13 billion private equity firm in Toronto that is founded by Newton Glassman, who is Jewish."^[31] Catalyst denied the allegations.^[32]

On February 21, 2018, the Court of Appeal dismissed Catalyst's appeal of Justice Newbold's decision regarding Moysa.^[33] In a March 15, 2018 letter to their investors, Catalyst said that they had new evidence in their case against West Face.^[34]

In the third week in March 2021, an Ontario Superior Court Justice, Cary Bovev, rejected Catalyst and Black Cube's requests to seal records to protect undercover agents. Details in the records will become part of the public record.^[35] By March 29, Region between Catalyst and West Face continued.^[36] Court documents allege that Psy-Group worked with Black Cube on operations to "discuss West Face Capital and to indirectly discredit Newbold."^[37] An email correspondence between Black Cube and Psy Group agents said that "Initially we're going to prove that he's a risk, a depressed self-hater, and trying to find information that could paint him in as negative a light as possible."^[38] According to a March 26, 2021 Globe and Mail article on the March 2021 Ontario Superior Court trial in Catalyst v. West Face, that made relevant documents public, operatives working for Psy Group and the Tel Aviv, Israel-based Black Cube are said to be "former members of the Israeli Defense Forces and the Mossad, the intelligence branch of the Israeli Defence Forces."^[39] The Globe reported that in 2017, Catalyst had hired Tamara Global, a security company to prepare for the appeal of Newbold's 2016 Ontario Superior Court decision. Black Cube operatives also hired Tamara as subcontractors.^[40] Court papers also revealed that "Catalyst was the only ultimately paying Black Cube client, which included a US$1.5-million base fee, and up to US$11 million in total, after potential bonuses."^[41] Catalyst claimed that they were unaware of how "the sting operations were being conducted."^[42]

Other Activity (edit) In January 2017, Zamel met with Ahmed al-Assid (who was implicated in the assassination of Jamal Khashoggi^[43]) and Trump advisor Michael Flynn in regards to Iran.^[44] The subject of the meeting was regime change in Iran. Steve Bannon and Lebanese-American businessman George Nader, a representative of the United Arab Emirates, attended the meeting.^[45]

WhiteKnight (edit) Bloomberg reported that there was discussion within Psy-Group to rebrand itself as WhiteKnight.^[46] WhiteKnight is a private intelligence agency based in the Philippines that has been reported by Bloomberg as being part owned by Joel Zamel and reported by the New York Times as having links to Zamel.^[47] Along with Psy-Group, which had an agreement with Cambridge Analytica, WhiteKnight has links to Cambridge Analytica and the Brexit Leave campaign.^[48]

WhiteKnight rose to prominence when George Nader turned to the company for information on the 2016 election. It was the second time he reached out to a company owned by Zamel, the first being Psy-Group, which was talked about in a high-level meeting with Nader representing Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates and Trump officials including Trump Jr, Erik Prince, Stephen Miller, to assist the then candidate Trump to secure the election via social media manipulation against his rivals.^[49] In December 2016, Nader purchased a presentation from WhiteKnight demonstrating the impact of social media campaigns on Trump's electoral victory.^[50] Nader made a payment of $2 million to Zamel for his services.^[51] WhiteKnight stated that it is global in operations.^[52] On October 22, 2018, Senator Richard Blumenthal sent letters to Facebook, Google, Reddit and Twitter asking each company about companies associated with Joel Zamel including WhiteKnight, Psy-Group and Wikistrat and if they had purchased advertisements or used fake accounts on their platforms.^[54]

Structure [edit]

Psy-Group structure was multilayered. The company had a bank account in Cyprus under a company called IOCO, which was owned or partly owned at one point by British Virgin Islands-based Protexer Limited and Cornell Enterprises SA, which in turn was managed by Zürich-based Salix Services AG.^[55] Ownership of IOCO changed annually. Protexer subsidiary MGMT Financial Services Limited is owned by Metropool Group in Moscow and run by Mikhail Slipenchuk.^[56]
