It's such a shame. I actually liked her. I guess it was inevitable that she's just the same as all the other Hollywood types...

Per Wikipedia: "She went to the United States for college, graduating from Hampshire College with a degree in film and theatre studies."

And she has no idea whatsoever when asked about a favorite mythical figure?

I have many books I collected as a child on cryptids and mythology and am way more knowledgeable than anyone in the replies and I would've a hard time thinking of my fav. Idiots always have to make it about skin color as if she isn't way more accomplished than they are Knowing Lupita doesn't know or understand Homer's poet, who is she to judge him for "the lack of women" in the story when she can't even name a single mythical character?

Why would she know about indo-European lore? This is sad. Just cast an ethnically accurate person.

There is a reason blacks don't create epic fantasy and instead have to be shoehorned into stories created by Whites.

She can barely think like a human, it's unfair to shame the creature thus.

Airhead black cunt. She probably can't even cook a meal to save her life, let alone being versed in mythology.
