Yep the guy was a fraud. Scientists were very critical about him with most calling him a fraudster. However, the jewish propagandists/media made him famous. Propaganda is more important than substance for the masses.

Yes, on April 10, 1948, Albert Einstein wrote a letter in which he referred to certain Zionist paramilitary groups as "terrorist organizations" and described their members as "misled and criminal people." This letter was addressed to Shepard Rifkin, the Executive Director of the American Friends of the Fighters for the Freedom of Israel, a group linked to the Stern Gang (Lehi), a militant Zionist faction. Einstein's

Lets be honest here, He's in a time where cameras were not a issue for thieves. Then there's lots of film constantly propping him up as a genius but were taking excessively right as if they are drilling it into everyone purposefully.

As he is a Jew, and they can only steal or destroy and often have predilections for highly deviant sexual behaviors, this is the only explanation that makes sense

There was (and still is) a coordinated campaign to make Einstein the hero of Relativity. The link reads like a conspiracy against anyone that tried to get to bottom of who actually created relativity. en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Relati...

E=mc² appeared in an Italian University paper 3 years before. Relativity was developed by a Polish physicist.
